

Covid has hit the music department quite hard this year restricting singing in school and keeping most of our ensemble members out of our classes. Our students are EXTREMELY resilient, however, and we are happy to announce that we have eight members from the NHS/P-Tech community that auditioned and made it into the Connecticut Western Region Choir and Orchestra. While these are only ensembles on paper this year, the honor of being selected among Fairfield County's best high school musicians is still relevant! These students will also have the opportunity to audition for the CT All State ensembles. I hope you will join us in congratulating them.
